Additionally, all major event documents, including schedules, rules, and key information, will be translated into other major languages such as French, Italian, and Spanish to enhance accessibility and ensure everyone feels at home.

BACKUP PLAYERS

To ensure a smooth and exciting tournament even in the face of unexpected events, we have implemented a comprehensive system for backup players and reserve squads.

Each team is allowed to designate a backup player who can step in to replace any primary player who becomes unable to participate due to injury, illness, or other unforeseen circumstances. Backup players must be registered with the tournament organizers before the start of the event and meet all eligibility criteria.

Our dedicated team at the information desk will be on hand to assist with any last-minute issues and ensure a smooth experience for all participants. In the rare event that a coach finds themselves without an opponent, we will do our utmost to re-pair them promptly. If this isn't possible, members of our team are ready to step in and play, ensuring that no one misses out on a game. This commitment reflects our determination to provide a seamless and enjoyable tournament for everyone.

RESERVE PLAYERS & SQUADS

In addition to backup players, teams may also form reserve squads. These squads consist of additional players who can be called upon to join the main team roster if needed. Reserve squads provide greater flexibility and depth to teams, ensuring that they can maintain a competitive edge throughout the tournament.

Specific regulations regarding backup players and reserve squads, including eligibility criteria, registration deadlines, and limitations on squad sizes, will be clearly communicated to all participating teams.

LEVERAGING PROVEN SUCCESS

Alicante's Tournament Software

We are excited to announce that we will be using the successful software developed by the Alicante Blood Bowl World Cup organizing team. We extend our sincere thanks to the Alicante team for making this exceptional tool available to us. Their generosity enables us to build upon a platform that has already proven its reliability in handling the complexities of a large-scale event. An additional advantage of using this existing and thoroughly tested software is the significant savings in time, energy, and resources that would otherwise be spent designing a new system. By leveraging this tool at no cost, we can redirect those resources to further enhance and strengthen other aspects of the event, ensuring an even better experience for players and attendees.

This software will undergo extensive testing and adaptation to meet the unique needs of the 2027 Blood Bowl World Cup. By doing so, we aim to deliver another seamless and professional tournament experience, continuing the tradition of excellence that has come to define the World Cup.

We are confident that this collaboration will contribute to the success of the event and showcase our commitment to innovation, efficiency, and the global Blood Bowl community.
